FLORIDA Ballot Initiative	Use of Marijuana for Certain Medical Conditions - Proposed Constitutional Amendment. A patient must have a physician certification in order to qualify. The certification must be signed by the patient's physician and state that the benefits of marijuana use outweigh the risks. Additionally, the physician must note how long he or she recommends the patient use marijuana. Patients would then submit their physician certifications to the Department of Health, which would issue patients identification cards. If a patient has declared a caregiver, that individual would also receive an identification card from the department. Qualified patients may designate an individual 21 or older as their personal caregiver. Caregivers could assist up to five patients, with limited exceptions. Registered patients would not be subject to criminal or civil sanctions under state law but could still be criminally liable for driving while under the influence of marijuana. The Department of Health determines the amount of marijuana that could reasonably be presumed to be an	Slated for Vote (Constitutional Amendment) in November 2014
